

Room With A View

We watch
our Milky Way Galaxy
and imagine it spinning like a phonograph record,
thirty three and a third slow,
needle in groove,
or one's morning coffee,
the added cream and sugar
a manmade whirlpool,
our view from this alien artifact, beyond sublime, its builders
a cosmic mystery; the view, to die for.

—G. O. Clark

